

ECON 380: Labor Economics

Fall 2015: MWF from 1:25 P.M. to 2:15 P.M. in Gardner 308

Instructor: Brad Shrago

Email: shrago@live.unc.edu (or shrago@email.unc.edu)

Office: Phillips Annex 102

Office Hours: Wednesday, 2:30 P.M. to 3:30 P.M., and by appointment.

Course Website: sakai.unc.edu

Prerequisites: ECON 101, ECON 310 or ECON 410

Textbook: George Borjas, Labor Economics, 7th Edition

The 6th edition is fine too; all of the topics I cover are in both editions, and the terminology is the same. Page numbers differ and graphics are a bit outdated, but the 6th edition is much cheaper.

Course Description: ECON 380 applies concepts from microeconomic theory to the study of labor markets. In this course, we will apply the ideas you learned in ECON 101 and ECON 310 to various topics in labor economics as a means of understanding labor market behavior.

Expectations: All course content is fair game for exams. Students are strongly encouraged to attend lectures and complete both assigned readings and homework assignments. Questions and discussion are encouraged during lecture. Disruptive behavior will not be tolerated, and the instructor may institute specific rules to foster a productive class environment.

Grading: Students will be evaluated through seven homework assignments, three in-class exams, and one cumulative final exam. These components are weighted as follows:

Homework: 4% each (total 28%)

Midterm 1: 13%

Midterm 2: 13%

Midterm 3: 13%

Final Exam: 33%

Letter grades are determined based on these components, and are assigned as follows:

A: 93 – 100; A-: 90 – 92.99

B+: 87 – 89.99, B: 83 – 86.99, B-: 80 – 82.99

C+: 77 – 79.99, C: 70 – 76.99, C-: 68 – 69.99

D+: 66 – 67.99; D: 60 – 65.99

F: 0 – 59.99

Homework: Seven graded homework assignments will be given throughout the term. Students are encouraged to work together on homework assignments. However, each student must hand in her own work. Late homework will be given half credit if it is turned in within one week of the due date, but no credit if it is turned in any later.

Exams: Three in-class exams will be given during the course. Midterms will be administered on the following dates during regular course hours in the standard classroom:

Midterm 1: Monday, September 21

Midterm 2: Monday, October 26

Midterm 3: Monday, November 23

No makeup exams will be provided. Students who are absent from an exam must inform the instructor in a timely manner of the reason of their absence; for planned absences the instructor should be contacted as soon as possible. Students who miss any of the midterms with an excused absence will have the weight of the missed midterm spread evenly across the remaining exam(s). Those who are not excused will receive a 0 for the missed exam.

Final Exam: The final exam is scheduled for 12PM on Monday, December 7 in Gardner 308. All students must take the final exam at this time unless they have received official permission from the University in writing. The final exam is cumulative, and material from the three midterms will be given approximately equal weight.

Regrade Requests: Regrade requests must be submitted in writing within one week of the exam or homework being returned. Students must include a clear explanation of why they believe a grading error has occurred.

Honor Code: The UNC Honor Code (honor.unc.edu) is in effect at all times.
