

ECON Undergraduate Teaching Award Winners

Thank you to everyone who participated in our teaching award survey earlier this spring. The winners are....

Outstanding Teaching Fellow: Roberto Lagos-Mondragon

Excellence in Undergraduate Teaching: Valentin Verdier

Exciting Opportunity: Summer 2024 Analyst Prep Internship Program! [\[FLYER\]](#)

Program Overview

The Analyst Prep internship program is a 15-week journey that includes comprehensive training, hands-on internship experience, personalized 1-on-1 mentoring, and dedicated recruiting assistance. It's an exciting opportunity for college students to gain professional experience and develop a strong foundation of technical skills in investment banking. At the end of the program, students will not only receive an analyst certification but also have the professional experience that will make them stand out in the competitive finance industry.

Why Us?

We've developed a comprehensive and structured experience not found anywhere else. We've helped hundreds of individuals start their careers in finance. We hope to inspire and support the next generation of finance professionals by sharing information about our internship program with your members. Partnering with student organizations like Department of Economics, UNC is crucial in reaching a wider audience of motivated and ambitious students eager to kickstart their careers in finance.

Training Curriculum Overview:

- Financial modeling
- Excel, PowerPoint and Accounting
- Corporate valuation
- Technical analysis
- Leveraged buyouts
- Mergers & acquisitions

Program Cost

- Free: For eligible undergraduate students (freshman, sophomore and juniors, minimum GPA of 3.70, demonstrated leadership skills, and needs financial assistance)
- Non-eligible Students: Early bird discount available for non-eligible students.

How to Apply:

- Students can apply directly HERE. Please share the attached program overview for more details
-

Summer Tutors Needed for ASPAS

The ASPAS (Athletic Support Program for Student-Athletes) is hiring summer tutors.

If interested, please submit your resume to aspsatutoring@unc.edu.