

Fall Course Enrollment

Fall course enrollment will resume in early August. If you need any help completing your fall schedule, please contact me at that time (and always include your PID!)

One class you may be interested in adding is ECON 292: Career Prep for ECON Majors, which will be offered this fall on Wednesdays from 2:30 – 3:40 pm (syllabus attached.) Enroll while there are still spots.

Only 50% of the Class of 2020 with Bachelor's degrees were full-time employed after graduation per the National Association of Colleges and Employers. (21% were continuing their education.) The goal of ECON 292 is to better prepare you to pursue your career – not just right out of college but years down the road ... for jobs that may not even be created yet. A goal of the course is improvement in your abilities to present your absolute best to prospective employers. We focus on developing your personal brand through mechanisms such as resumes, networking, LinkedIn, and interviews. Whether you are a 2nd year or 3rd year student looking for an internship or a 4th year student still looking for that first job, we work one-on-one to accomplish your goal. During the semester, we also bring in multiple guest speakers – from firms such as CAPTRUST, Wells Fargo, and GOOGLE – to interact and engage directly with the students in this course. These employers explain exactly what they are looking for in a potential candidate and share how to thrive in their business environment.

Invitation to Apply to the D.E. Shaw Group

The D. E. Shaw group is now accepting applications for our summer 2025 internship program.

Interested applicants can check out this video to see what it's like to intern with us or visit our website to apply for as many roles as they'd like. We review applications on a rolling basis and plan to begin interviewing candidates early next month. We don't set time limits on our offers, regardless of whether students are already in the recruiting process elsewhere.

A little more about the D. E. Shaw group:

- We're a global investment and technology development firm with over 2,500 people around the world. Since our founding in 1988, we've earned a worldwide reputation for innovation, rigorous risk management, cutting-edge technology, and the quality of our people. Visit our website to learn more about our culture and impact, research, and programs.
- Our internships are open to students from all academic backgrounds who want to build skills and relationships, work on high-impact initiatives, and learn about investing and technology development from experts inside and outside the firm.
- We solve complex challenges together and thrive on the diversity of our employees. We welcome students' perspective, experience, and background. We want to be a place where students can reach their full potential.

FAQs:

If students are interested in our firm, but they're already interviewing elsewhere:

They can fill out this form and we'll do our best to work with their timeline. They can also update the form or email me if their recruiting timeline changes. (Please note: this form isn't an application. If they're interested in an open role, they should also apply on our website so we can review their application.)

If they've already accepted an offer for summer 2025:

Congratulations! We'd still like to learn more about their career goals. They're welcome to fill out this form to tell us more about what roles they might be interested in or to hear about our future opportunities.

If they're second-year students:

They can check out our three-day fellowship programs, which bring together talented students looking to learn more about investing and technology development. They'll get a sense of what we do at the firm through case studies, seminars with visiting professors, and sessions with our analysts. Fellowships happen throughout the year, so interested students can fill out this form to get updates on our open applications. They can also watch this video for more information.
